Research challenges are the Pathway to Engagement and Progress.

Lynn Silipigni Connaway. OCLC (USA)

Dr. Lynn Silipigni Connaway will discuss how challenges of library and information science (LIS) research may be used to promote engagement between researchers, practitioners, and both current and prospective users of library services. She also will provide examples of how this engagement can lead to progress within the LIS research and professional communities.